The rules are the same as in standard golf; except you may place your birdieball on the strike pad or tee after every shot. (This is to protect your clubs as well as the ground. The course may be rough & rocky in some areas) You must also orient the birdieball with the hole pointing up & down before you hit it.

Why use a velocity tee?

Experiencing the true feel and seeing the true flight of the birdieball hit with a driver will improve your ability to control a real golf ball. Use your 460 CC driver and practice hitting your driver anywhere! Traveling a maximum of 70 yards, this heavy feeling practice method has all of the attributes of a golf ball. Draw it, fade it, crush it!

Why use a strike pad?

It protects the ground from the club. When you hit a golf ball that only goes 40 yards, you're usually hitting in places that were not meant for golf clubs, thereby saving lawns & parks from damage. (Taking divots in your backyard, park, school yard, or gymnasium is usually frowned upon.)

The strike pad's camber allows you to hit down and through the ball, simulating taking a divot, but not taking an actual divot. Now you can practice anywhere, even on concrete, asphalt and dirt! It also protects the club from the ground.
